Hard at Work for the Community

Dear Friends,

Challenges and opportunities abound as we begin 2010 at United Ministries. We're working to find ways to meet the increasing need in the community with a focus on solutions.

Our Eyes Were Opened continues to grow and evolve to help raise awareness and understanding of poverty issues. As January comes to a close, we've held seven poverty tours and one poverty simulation. We've also conducted one "I Want to Work" simulation, one "Understanding Poverty in the Classroom," one "Servant or Sucker" workshop for Leadership SC, and one "Servant or Sucker" workshop at a national conference in Nashville. We are promoting the "I Want to Work" simulation nationally and starting to get orders and generate publicity.

Within the Employment Readiness program, our partnership with United Way and Greenville Tech as part of the Greenville Workforce Development project to train individuals in advanced manufacturing skills is proving to be hugely successful. With 15 students in the Manufacturing Production Technician program we had a 100% graduation rate with each of the 15 students passing four separate qualification exams. The project is a collaborative effort funded through and supported by SC Workplace in Action, and includes job placement opportunities.

On March 11th, Buncombe Street United Methodist Church will host United Ministries' Adult Education GED graduation ceremony. Some 270 students will have successfully completed State requirements and will be eligible to walk in the ceremony. It's the largest GED class we've ever graduated! Graduates in 2009 totaled 340; more than most Greenville County high schools.

Solutions to challenges include education and job skills. Often, solutions begin with meeting the basic needs of food and shelter and health. Most times, solutions also include finding ways to meet the human need for relationships in everyday life – family and friends. We're working hard, as we begin 2010, to keep those parts of our work in focus as well.

Please keep United Ministries in your prayers.

Sincerely,

Keith Trout

Hotel or Apartment?

Recently I was working with an elementary school and we took a bus tour of the neighborhoods where some of the students live. The bus driver took us to an area where there are a lot of motels and noted that she stopped at each one because children who attended the school lived there. That comment produced significant conversation.

Have you ever wondered why someone might live in a motel room when the cost for the month can be more than a month's rent in an apartment? When you think about it, the decision is extremely practical and rational:

1. There are no first and last month deposits required.
2. There are no utility deposits.
3. Cable television is often furnished.
4. There is hot water.
5. There are heat and air conditioning.
6. There are furniture, sheets, and towels.
7. There is no criminal background check.
8. There is no credit check.
9. You can pay by the day or week, which is extremely important when that is how you are paid.

Even though the arrangements might be a bit crowded and cooking a little more challenging, all in all, a motel room is a pretty good option.

Food for Thought, brought to you by BI-LO

BI-LO Charities' "Learn to Earn" project at United Ministries will support 250 GED students in the Adult Education program. This project is made possible through a grant of $15,870 from the 2009 BI-LO Charity Classic.

Education plays a critical role in breaking the cycle of poverty for individuals and their families. United Ministries has had great success in addressing the tremendous need for adult education with a free and flexible GED program that responds to the particular circumstances of students who struggle with poverty. The demand for adult education at United Ministries has grown dramatically in the past year, with enrollment increasing from 270 students in 2008 to over 600 students in the past few months.

"High school graduation is almost always ideal," said Ethan Friddle, Director of United Ministries' Learning Center. "But when a high school diploma is no longer an option – for whatever reason – we are dedicated to providing a viable 'Plan B.' With this second chance, most of our GED graduates go on to enroll in higher education programs and to pursue the opportunities that are now available to them."

BI-LO Charities' "Learn to Earn" will provide direct services to participants such as GED exam fees ($80 per test), study materials ($13 per student), case management and transportation. Students will be encouraged, counseled and supported to pursue college or job-training in order to make a better life for their families and become contributing members of our community. They will be equipped with the tools necessary to pursue higher education, job-training, or a job with a livable wage. They will be less likely to seek food assistance, rent or utility assistance from United Ministries' Emergency Assistance program.

"BI-LO Charities' partnership with United Ministries, who assists individuals in crisis, has always been a strong fit with our mission," said Anthea Jones, Chairman BI-LO Charity Classic. "This new Learn to Earn concept is especially exciting to us, because it represents that first step to empowering adults with the skills and self-esteem to become self-sufficient members of our community."

TEN THOUSAND VILLAGES®

On Saturday, March 6, Ten Thousand Villages will host a Community Shopping Day to benefit the women of United Ministries' Adult Ed program. Ten Thousand Villages is pleased to support organizations that have an impact on women in Greenville during the month of March.

Please invest in the future of our female students and community by shopping at Ten Thousand Villages that day. A percentage of sales will benefit GED testing fees for women in Greenville.

United Ministries' Adult Education program had 340 GED graduates last year, half of whom were women. These GED graduates are taking steps to break the cycle of poverty for their families. At United Ministries, staff and volunteers work with students to pass the GED and to continue to college or job-training. United Ministries pays for students' study materials ($13 per student) and the GED Exam fee ($80 per student).

Join the awareness and fundraising campaign benefiting three local charities—GAIHN (Greenville Area Interfaith Hospitality Network), Triune Mercy Center, and United Ministries—that are focused on solutions to poverty and homelessness.

Our mission is to collect 50,000 quarters, representing the 50,000+ people living below the poverty line in Greenville County. The campaign will run through March 21, closing with "Musical Extravaganza: In Harmony, Against Poverty" at Pendleton Street Baptist Church in downtown Greenville, where we will showcase the quarters.

The community-wide, free event will feature:

- Kyle Matthews
- Larry McCullough & Chosen Generation
- USC Upstate Gospel Choir
- Joyful Sound (North Greenville University) &
- Bethel Full Gospel Baptist Church Praise Dancers, and include a love offering.
